

OSNCA Member Ride Syl and Shirley Szuscko 50 Cadillac

High in Havasu Heights where the wind endlessly shifts from one point of the compass to another and the loudest sound is the deafening silence, live Syl and Shirley Szuscko.

In the Szuscko garage resides a 1950 Cadillac Series 62 convertible survivor. The black Cad with white interior was found on ebay, and bought in northern California about six years ago.

The former owner kept this car as one of a stable of more than 50 cars that he rented to movie makers when needed. The original bill of sale shows the Cad was purchased in Beverly Hills in 1949. Syl keeps the old girl in good running order pending the major restoration that is in the "thinking about it" stages, which car guys know is that indeterminate period that precedes "putting it on the drawing board." Not a man that lacks for projects, Syl has a street rod in the works that needs to be finished before tearing the Cad down. The '76 model Cad below is to be the donor car for the "50 restoration, providing a 500 ci engine, 400 trans, a rear end, and six wire wheels.
